BDI'S NEW XELA TABLE COLLECTION COMBINES CLASSIC AND MODERN ELEMENTS

New console, end and coffee tables now shipping

CHANTILLY, VA. – March 15, 2010 – The new Xela table collection from contemporary furniture manufacturer BDI blends classic design with modern elements. Now shipping worldwide, the Xela collection was designed by Al Glass and includes a coffee, console and end table.

Style, storage and flexibility are the keys to the elegant Xela tables. Crafted with beautifully grained American Walnut and grey tinted tempered glass, all tables in the collection integrate semi-enclosed storage compartments to keep everyday items out of the way. Xela showcases BDI's elegant new Chocolate Stained Walnut finish that accents the rich grain found in the natural wood veneers.

The coffee table glides on hidden casters, making it a perfect partner with a sleeper sofa. "Everyone knows how difficult it is to move a coffee table when setting up a sleeper sofa. The design team addressed this need when developing the Xela coffee table," says Bill Becker, CEO and Design Director. The versatile console is a great table for the entryway, and it also serves as a beautiful and functional laptop desk. To complete the collection, the Xela end table can fit in almost any room setting, large or small. All tables include integrated levelers to compensate for uneven floors.

"The new Xela collection exemplifies BDI's design philosophy – combining innovative function with beautiful style," says Becker. "The Xela tables are a perfect design to complement any room setting, while providing extra storage to conceal your everyday items. This kind of table collection has been in high demand for quite some time, so Xela will be perfectly at home for many consumers."
